Highly passionate, imaginative full stack web developer looking to join a great company that believes in innovative solution. With a passion for front-end web development and experience in Ruby on Rails, JavaScript, React/Redux, and CSS, I am ready to contribute for companies in various domains and at the same time, explore and expand my knowledge to achieve professional growth. Driven by my passion, I quit my long held retail job to pursue a web development career and joined Flatiron immersive web application bootcamp which really elevated my interest and passion to whole different level.
